

Abstract: The paper proposes a conjecture to the heavily damaged lines of Aeschylus' Supplices 827 f. An investigation on the verbal usage employed in the scholium ad locum is invoked to provide an evidence for emending the text.

Keywords: Aeschylus, Supplices, Textual criticism, Scholia, Homer.